The theme of this year's yearbook is "The Unforgettable Rollins Experience." I know, at first it sounds really corny, but think about it. Throughout our lives, people tell us that our years in college will be the best years of our lives. I'm not sure how true that philosophy is, but my years at Rollins certainly have been unforgettable.

How could I ever forget living in Rex Beach Hall with the X-Club my first year here? The combination of Rex Beach and the Clubbers was supposed to be the worst possible. Instead, I had a great time, made incredible friends and learned the importance of waiting until the weekend to party. My sophomore year I learned a great deal about myself. I will always remember the self-confidence Beth Baldwin gave me. I will also always carry with me the importance of a sense of community that I learned from Jack Lane. This year, my junior year, I have begun to live by what I have learned. It hasn't always been easy, but I am trying.

I believe that the most unforgettable aspect of my "Rollins Experience" has been combining classroom discussions with everyday life. After all, my parents are paying a lot of money so I can get an education, and there is no point in my having an expensive degree if I cannot intelligently discuss important issues in everyday conversation. All too often we, students and professors, place too much emphasis on assignments and grades, and we forget the real concept of "being educated." I know, though, that no matter what my G.P.A. is when I graduate, I have been educated during my "unforgettable Rollins experience." Fiat Lux.

College may or may not be the best years of one's life, but our time at Rollins is definitely unforgettable. During the time we spend attending classes, socializing, studying, playing, and volunteering, we create memories and participate in experiences that will forever influence us.

Contacting alumni from decades past put the "Rollins experience" in perspective. People at Rollins may complain about the college — the apathy, the bureaucracy, the expense, the food; they do not, however, always realize "how sweet it is." When a 1942 Rollins graduate writes so fondly of her years here — memorable, one notices how much we take for granted — the weather, the opportunities, the architecture, the personal attention.

Moreover, concentrating on traditions of the past was an inspiration for creating a quality volume of the yearbook, and serving as an editor has been a fruitful, although not always easy, experience. When, in 2042, the Tomokan editor wants to locate a picture of that 1992 graduate who became an outstanding statesman, an Olympic athlete, or a prize-winning scientist, I want him or her to sit in the spooky top floors of the Mills Building, page through this edition, and think, "Now this was a classy yearbook, and the people who were here in 1992 must recall that time vividly when they page through this." Of course, I want people to also feel that way in a few months.

The notion of graduating from Rollins — of completing this experience — can be frightening; the future is uncertain and our surroundings may not be so familiar. But one can use his or her experiences and opportunities here as yet another building block for the future. Just as the college will always have its traditions, we will always have this time together. Once we leave, we will simply strive to be the best and create an equally unforgettable future.

Alice B. Acree, '42

Acree came to Rollins in 1940 when Dr. Hamilton Holt offered her a teaching fellowship as Assistant Director of Women's Physical Education. While here, she taught P.E. and conducted women's intrasorority sports and finished her B.A. in Human Relations.

She fondly remembers Rollins as "heaven." She had never been to Florida, but fell in love with the campus, the atmosphere, the student body and professors, the lush outdoors, the lakefront, and the Rollins community. She recalls the slogan of the 1940's: "A boy for every girl and a canoe for every couple." In 1943, she married her "boy," Edwin B. Acree Jr. and they have lived "happily ever after."

Acree concludes, "Rollins College was good to me, and I'll always remember the joy and love of my college days at Rollins."

EXPERIENCE IT!

The Class of 1992...

Rollins College offers a Senior year that can be both exciting and terrifying at the same time. It is exciting because after all of the questions about what you'll do after Commencement, you begin to think that yes, this is going to be a new beginning, a new chapter, in life. At the same time it is very frightening. It doesn't always help when Career Services is constantly dropping little notes in your campus box with the big words, "No Jobs in '92!" All together the experiences that Rollins has given the graduating class have prepared us through education and mental and spiritual growth to face both the exciting and the terrifying with open minds. The 'unforgettable' Rollins experience creates in each of us the ability to face whatever challenges arise in the years to come.

"My most unforgettable moment at Rollins was getting hypnotized by Tom Deluca during my junior year. At the end, I was dancing solo on stage for ten minutes. Strangers would come up to me and ask me about it all of the time. Then, this year, a guy stopped me and asked if I had been hypnotized last year. When I answered that I had, he replied, "I did not see it, because I am a freshman, but my brother was a senior here last year and he told me about it."

“My ‘unforgettable’ moments at Rollins have been a lot of ‘firsts’ -- my first day of Orientation, the first Student Life Summit, my first Fox Day, my first trip to Border Cantina my first day as Student Government President, time spent with my ‘first’ friends, and my first visit to the family tree. While none of us leave with all good memories, we leave with memories shaped by our love of Rollins College and an unforgettable four years.”

"With tensions at an all time high for finals, I invited all house members of Lyman Lodge to my room for the 'Magnificent Midnight Study Cake-Break.'

Needless to say, all that responded were delighted and grateful for my hospitality.

As they filtered in near the witching hour, I excused myself under the auspices of rounding up the stragglers. Katherine and Kato were busily crunching the old copies of the Sandspur into tight little paper balls. We quickly rounded up the pillows from all the vacant and yet unguarded rooms. The pillows were hidden as the cases were stuffed with the newly made and extremely articulate padding. The redesigned headrests were strategically replaced in the exact condition in which they were pilfered, so as not to alarm the wary.

Back in my room, the party had begun without me, as the hungry greedily devoured the four dollar cake that had successfully lowered their defenses. Following the many thank-yous that I received, I waited for the fun to begin. Throughout the night, one after another exhausted student clicked off the light, crawled into bed, and thumped a tired head down on what used to be a soft, welcoming pillow. The fun continued throughout the night as each victim laughed his or her way to bed, only to arrive at the same crunch.

Since he who laughs last laughs the hardest, I dedicate this piece to all those who came to the 'Magnificent Midnight Study Cake-Break,' along with a mighty 'Harumph.'"

"In the spring of my freshman year, our baseball team earned a berth in the College World Series; we were the first team in Rollins history to make it to the World Series... what a way to end my first year of college baseball. The quarterfinal game was against the University of New Haven. We played before a crowd of 5,500, the most people ever to watch me play. As the designated hitter, I batted fifth, behind a senior who was to be a second round draft pick of the San Francisco Giants. I was two for three in a game that we were to lose 6-2. After the game, with tears streaming down our faces, we walked to the outfield line, where the commissioner awarded us with our regional trophies. Going two for three and getting that trophy, though, did not matter to me. My goal ever since has been to return to the World Series...that would make my senior year here truly unforgettable. I didn't order a class ring...I'm keeping that finger open for a World Series ring." -Chris Mader

Class of 1995

In September 1991, a class of 402 first year students began their Rollins experience. They came from 40 states and eight countries, with a record-breaking forty two percent claiming Florida as their home state.

During their first week, these students participated in various Orientation activities, from Playfair to the required standardized tests.

After a few weeks, they had become part of the Rollins community, socializing at Cornell between classes, strolling down Park Avenue, and becoming involved in various organizations.

Most would agree that their memories of the first year at Rollins are the most unforgettable...

Class Of 1994

Some people have described the sophomore year as being the most difficult one of their four years in college. Still others say, "That's when students start to get an attitude." Either way, sophomores return to Rollins in September feeling like they get to be part of the 'returning student population,' and they can describe people by saying, "I know him. He lived down the hall from me when I was a freshman." Of course, sophomores also face a variety of challenges. After returning home for the summer, they must get reaccustomed to the food and the lifestyle at Rollins. At the same time comes the chance for friends who have been separated for three months to catch up. Meanwhile, sophomores know they are finally "settled in," and many use this year as a time to become involved in various organizations. In April, at the second year of college nears a close, students must go to the Registrar's office and fill out a "Declaration of Major" form. It is often then that they remember why they came to Rollins.

By the time students become Juniors, they are aware of the fact that time spent at Rollins often tends to go by quickly. At some point, almost every Junior faces the inevitable fact that, "our time here is already half over." Often, the junior year is a time when students elect to study abroad in a variety of places - France, Australia, Italy, Ireland, Eastern Europe, or Mexico. For these students, the Rollins experience goes beyond Winter Park to the corners of the world. Some Juniors begin to realize that, within a year, they will become Seniors, and the people they once looked up to as upperclass role models will have moved on to other places and environments. Others are reminded that there is but one last summer to spend as a college student, and a store of summers to spend as part of the real world. It is also a time to think about graduate school, about careers, and about maintaining those friendships that were built during one's past years at Rollins.

"I'll never forget the beachtrip to Cocoa that was part of 'Spring Thing' my freshman year. The bus driver was an hour and a half late. When he finally arrived at Rollins, his excuse was that he normally worked for NASA and had been trying to borrow a bus-driving uniform. We went the longest route possible to the beach. Then, in the middle of downtown Cocoa, our driver put the bus in park and leapt out in order to fight with the driver who had cut us off. After a gorgeous day in the sun, our trip home was hysterical. Two guys were on the microphone up front, pretending to be our stewardesses and warning about emergency water landings. Meanwhile, one passenger was sitting on top of the roof, our driver simply said, 'Close the hatch, commander.' Finally, when we asked to go to McDonald's, he drove the bus through the restaurant's parking lot and back onto the Beeline, saying, 'We went there. Are you happy?' What a day."

Every year members of the Rollins campus and citizens of Winter Park come together to celebrate "the arts." Five plays are produced in the Annie Russell Theatre each year, and every January the Playwrights' Festival is held in the Fred Stone Theatre. Moreover, each fall the Rollins campus serves as the host for the Winter Park Autumn Art Festival, while activities such as the Diversity Celebration sponsored by the Cultural Action Committee bring artists of different cultures and lifestyles to campus.

Rollins' science departments are used even for identifying interesting reptiles, such as this Eastern Worm snake.

Bush Science Center, home of the math and natural sciences departments, was built in 1969 and houses 38 teaching and research laboratories. Since the mid-1980's major grants have allowed the college to improve its resources for science by adding a tissue culture lab, ultra-centrifuge, mass spectrometers, an electrochemistry system, a Fourier-Transform spectrometer, and microelectronics equipment.

unforgettable

"In the spring of 1970 I was an untenured, assistant professor. I'd been elected that year to serve as one of the faculty advisors to the old student assembly, and so I attended the special meeting called the night of the shooting at Kent State University. Bush Auditorium was packed with students demanding a general strike and debating how to go about it. As the hours passed and as the rhetoric intensified, I kept thinking about a set of papers I'd promised to grade. Finally, the students noticed that none of the faculty or administrators had spoken, and they began to ask us, one by one, what we thought they should do. One dean suggested that the students go to their classes and ask that time be set aside for discussion of "current events." Another asked whether students thought their parents would want them to sit in or to prepare for their finals. When it came my turn, I just urged students to strike if they wanted to strike and to stop wasting time debating while four people their age were lying dead in Ohio."

ed cohen, professor of english

I'm afraid that was the wrong thing to have said. The students realized that it was a bit odd to be meeting according to "Robert's Rules of Order" when the country was in chaos. The deans were pissed at me for endorsing the very notion of a strike. And the assembly dispersed a few moments later without passing a resolution.

Next day, some students gathered on the Mills lawn to sing protest songs, some took off for the beach, and some showed up for class. I read aloud a poem by Wilfred Owen, and my students complained that they didn't think a verse written during World War I had much to do with them. A year or so later, one of those students was killed in the Mekong Delta. Whenever I'm in Washington, I visit the Viet Nam Memorial and find his name inscribed there and try to remember what he looked like on May 4, 1970.

-Janet Weidmann, class of 1942 changes in

Rollins experienced many changes during 1991 and 1992. Beans burned, Res Life got a new home in McKean, Campus Safety started enforcing some long ignored rules, and we had to say goodbye to some great people such as Mike Young, Mike Lawrence, and Lucy Hamilton.

"major capital improvements: Olin Library, Cornell Social Sciences, moving Fred Stone Theater, new Walk of Fame, Mills Center, Pinehurst, Boathouse; a lot of new bureaucracy and red tape, but systems are more fair to students and staff"

-Linda Downing, Student Financial Planning

"growth of student initiative and organization; increased intellectual interaction between faculty and students; greater student access to computers; greater campus commitment to writing as a process and respecting the need for peer collaboration"

highlights

Because there both a night school, the Hamilton Holt School, and a graduate school, the Roy E. Crummer School of Business, incorporated into the Rollins campus, Rollins College is not considered to be a liberal arts school but instead is considered to be a comprehensive college. Moreover, Rollins is continually ranked as one of the top five comprehensive colleges in the nation.

The Johnson Center for Psychology contains a sleep and dream analysis lab, an animal behavior lab with computer-controlled learning stations, and microsurgery facilities used by students studying neuropsychology as well as by residents of the Orlando Regional Medical Center.

ROLLINS REVIVES SWIMMING AFTER 60-YEAR ABSENCE

Swimming at Rollins College has been revived after a 60+ year absence from the Winter Park, Florida athletics lineup. Under the guidance of Coach Rich Morris, also a physical education instructor, the Rollins men's and women's swim teams competed in a meet against Florida Atlantic on Saturday, January 18, 1992, in Boca Raton.

Although the #5 ranked FAU women outswam the team, Rollins made a run at its first meet win by taking the men's event down to the final relay. The Tars were behind just 69-65, but lack of depth saw the swimmers edged in the final race. Morris singled out the performances of Captain Bill McGee(SO), Chris Curtis(FR), Derek Boorn(FR), and Trevor Clendenin(SO) which won the 200 Medley Relay. Boorn won the 50 Free and Curtis took the 100 Breaststroke. Clendenin also scored in three races.

Captain Lori Thompson, a freshman from Nassau, Bahamas, took first in the 100 Breaststroke. She is a former member of the junior national team for the Bahamas.

The final scores were FAU men 82, Rollins 68; FAU women 102, Rollins 42.

Fred Battenfield serves as the Sports Information Director for Rollins College. His duties include coordinating all media relations, publications, statistics, and game management for the school's athletic program. One of his accomplishments while at Rollins has been to compile the school's first-ever comprehensive record book for all sports.

Battenfield has been at Rollins since June 1987. Prior to that time, he served in a similar capacity at the University of Texas-San Antonio, Texas A&M University, and the University of Texas-Austin. He was also involved in press operations at the 1984 and 1988 Summer Olympics.

Students at Rollins witness Battenfield's work in publicity for events, publications, and statistics in various publications (including Tar Talk), and the smooth operations at athletic contests. Battenfield had also been an invaluable resource in the preparation of this year's Tomokan. The staff thanks him for providing both photographs and a wealth of pertinent information.

Thank You...

We would like to thank Andres Abril for his dedication over these past four years. Many of the Rollins publications could not execute without the photography of Andres, not only the Tomokan, but the Sandspur, Tar Talk, and R-Times.

The Young Democrats of Rollins College was founded in 1991 to stimulate students to take an active interest in governmental affairs, to foster and encourage the ideals and principles of the Democratic Party, and to help acquaint voters with current issues and candidates, and to encourage political and community involvement among the members of the Rollins Community.

During the 1991-92 academic year, the Young Democrats took part in meeting to discuss state and local issues such as Florida's educational budget and the Supreme Court appointment. Members also volunteered time the the 1992 COOL National Conference on Student Community Service, to the Presidential Forum, and to the Democratic Presidential Candidates' display in Olin Library.

Rollins Young Democrats were also recognized at the state level. In December, 1991, two members served in the 1991 Florida Democratic Convention. One member also received the Florida's Democratic Women's Club Scholarship in Political Science.

Student's for Safer Sex was founded two years ago. Since then, they have merged with Mark Freeman's Gender Issues group. The two groups give programs to any residential group that asks. The program is called Sex and Splits. A popular version of the program features learning how to put a condom on a banana and then making banana splits after the discussion. The programs are peer educated, presented by college students. The group is available to answer and give information concerning sex and relationships.

THE STUDENT AMBASSADORS

serve as a liason between the college and prospective students, parents, and interested community members. Primarily, ambassadors lead the hour-long campus tours which are given twice daily. The volunteer members also assist in special programming, including receptions and previews for several groups of perspective Rollins students. Finally, the ambassadors devote a portion of Spring Term to hosting student overnight visits. The group works closely with the Rollins Office of Admissions and is advised by Karen Weatherford, associate dean of admissions.

INTERVARSITY CHRISTIAN

believes every Rollins College student should have the opportunity to study at the feet of the world's greatest teacher. Through Bible study, concerts, beach trips, retreats, making cookies and our personal witness on campus, we share the truth of Jesus-- He came that we may have life, and have it more abundantly (John 10:10).

THE BIOLOGY INTEREST GROUP was established by people with a great curiosity for the biological sciences. The goal of the organization is to spread this interest and to further support those interested in majoring in Biology.

THE ROLLINS CHORAL ENSEMBLES

are an exciting and diverse group of singers. Under the direction of Dr. John Sinclair, the ensembles perform a wide range of music. Camerata, the largest group, performs classical pieces, spirituals, show-tunes--you name it! Practicing four days a week, Camareta presents a Fall and Spring Concert for Rollins and the Winter Community. Other smaller groups include Women's Glee, Chamber Singers, Women's Trio and Men's Quartet. The ensembles work hard and are happy to share their music with the Rollins Community.

JEWISH STUDENT LEAGUE

The Jewish Student League

is Rollins' Hillel organization. The JSL provides various cultural and educational activities for the entire Rollins Community. Our main goal for this year was to enlighten the Rollins students of Jewish customs and beliefs. Some of our activities for this year include the Yom Kippur Break, the Fast Dinner, the Hanukkah party for Rollins, Bagel Brunches, and our reception for the world-renowned Jewish Art Historian Dr. Joseph Gutmann. In addition the members of the JSL volunteer frequently to work at the Jewish Community Center in Orlando.

N. Dillon

AN UNFORGETTABLE ALUMNA

Nancy Corbett Dillon graduated from Rollins in 1945. During her years at Rollins, Nancy was President of Student Council, Vice-President of Kappa Alpha Theta, President of the International Club, and was a member of Libra. She was also nationally ranked in tennis and played matches for Rollins and throughout the country. Nancy later went on to receive her Master's Degree in 1967. She is now a history high school teacher.

HABITAT FOR HUMANITY

There were many activities throughout the year that helped raise money to build houses for the homeless.

Habitat for Humanity is a nationwide organization dedicated to providing housing for those in need. Often, those involved spend a hard day building on actual construction sights. Not far from Rollins, there is a Habitat house which many students have helped to construct.

HABITAT FOR HUMANITY

Volunteers, students, faculty and staff work side-by-side on the Habitat house.

"One of the best things about this is that you're working with the people who will actually own and live in the home..... This is not a give-away thing. It's people working for what every person should have. Some people aren't as fortunate as others, but everyone should have their own home," said Gretchen Pollom.

THE CENTER FOR PUBLIC SERVICE

Located on the first floor of Carnegie, the Rollins College Center for Public Service promotes and coordinates the community service efforts of Rollins students and student organizations. The Center helps students locate and participate in meaningful community service experiences. In addition, Rollins offers service-learning courses which combine academics and community service. The community service is either an option or a requirement of these courses. The Center for Public Service has also joined the fight against illiteracy by sponsoring the Rollins Coalition for Literacy through which students can be trained to tutor adults in reading. Through the Center for Public Service, Rollins has continued its commitment to community involvement and superior educational opportunities.

THE CHAPEL DEACONS

Acting as a liaison between the student body and the chapel, the Chapel Deacons are an organization that meets monthly to advise on chapel activities; including organizing ushers and readers for Chapel services. We support projects in community service such as Daily Bread, Habitat for Humanity, and correspondence letters to support foster children in developing nations. Most commonly known for all-campus stir-fries held weekly, where we share dinner and a moral or ethical discussion, we also sponsor search retreats and assist in organizing Christmas Vespers and other seasonal activities.

Rollins Outdoor Club, 1992.

The Rollins Outdoor Club is an active school organization whose purpose is to broaden ecological and community awareness among Rollins students, faculty and staff.

Our group's goal is to increase awareness of the environment and our impact on the environment. Our members learn and fine-tune outdoor skills and become more aware of their natural surroundings. R. O. C. enhances student's social, intellectual, and personal growth by bringing together people with different values, interests, and ideas under a common pursuit. Lyman Lodge, the R. O. C. house, is a central place where the organization's activities may be discussed, developed, and carried out. The R. O. C. house serves as a symbol for the Rollins community for activity in and concern for the environment.

We believe that our goals are reached by sponsoring a variety of activities including cleanups of Florida beaches, rivers, and parks. We also sponsor educational lectures, films, and courses which we feel to be of importance during outdoor activity. We especially enjoy planning trips of all sorts including camping, white water rafting, scuba diving, canoeing, biking, hiking, rock climbing, snow skiing, surfing, sky diving, and many others. Through these excursions into the outdoors, we hope to promote appreciation for the outdoors while establishing a relaxed atmosphere within which people can learn about themselves and others.

R. O. C. 's all-campus trips promote individual respect and self-esteem by providing the challenge of the outdoors, thereby bringing our people's strengths and weaknesses. R. O. C. tries to help people realize this so that they can accept and respect themselves and others for what they have to offer.

Founded in 1929 by Dr. Hugh F. McKean and James B. Beam, the X Club is the oldest Fraternity at Rollins and the oldest local fraternity in the nation. We are a small, close-knit organization, respectfully known as Rollins' most social organization. The Club continues to maintain its tradition of close friends and Hell Times.

To the Fraters who brought back the Teke spiri--Π-α-ω-α. The Chapter with the Balls is back! Special Thanks to the Babes, the Sadostoc Alumni (the Jade Hammer, Bazil, et al), the pubs, and the competition (yeah, right). We're kicking, keep it up!!!

Joe a.k.a. Rip...Uhhhhh, what was that? A bottle of white-out for your art, a truckload of grease for the doo, a beer belly; Hose... Freedom for you people, another set of twins (at the same time!), and Felito's mother; The Almighty OPIE... the re One, Need a beer? Hey Babe, I'm a virgin, I don't do that!! Need a beer? I had a G-R-E-A-T time... period; Felito/Flex... Let's go kill the Delts, a "How to be a Real Man" book, a case of Mezcal for those unfortunate, sober moments; J.C. a.k.a. Pitbull... Whoever gets the most (of the best) before he dies- wins, another three inches, all the dancers you haven't had; Biff... How Bourgeois, yes, you are NAFF, a real life without operas and croquet, are you sure you're not a Delt? Apple Strudel... Beam the rest of my brains down- Scotty, a clue, you Dirty Rotten Scoundrel; Moagley... the ballet bathroom cleaner, a hundred bars to pass out at, erasable markers to handout before you pass out, and a Fox Day you can live through; Ahmadillo... HaHaHaHaHaHa, a real Diploma, a babe born in the same decade as yourself, admission to the Hatian School of Medicine and Witch Doctors; Hobie the Horrible... "I'm an Ass...", a snorkel for those deep dives, standards, and beergoggle defoggers; Grimace... killed any Alpha Chi's lately? watch out for those swinging doors- Nosebleed, a treadmill for the extra poundage, gin and tonics till you die, and a bigger tinker- you lymie; Shamoo... our Little John, a diet, a grade point average, a life without your computer; Spanky... "I was this close," a semester-long TEKE-Quilla event with Tatu, a real athletics team; Lou Zerr... a dress-to-get-laid party, a blow-up doll, a friend, a bigger knife to carve up Dan with and salt to pour into his wounds; Zonker... our Old Wise Man, a diploma (need we say more?), a whip to strike back with, and plenty of Free-Balling experiences; Nestor a.k.a. Caveman... a prayer, a cure, Arnold- he's not that big, a babe to beat with your club, lessons on how to wall; Chris T.... a Fraternity that knows you better, and more rumors to get your image lower; George... shyboy, you don't fool us- you pig, a real roommate; Myers... "Bottom Line, I'm not lying... Money, Please," what's that piece you drive? a night with T.V. -keep wishing; Venerable P./ Gomer... our pledge, so what's the head count- one and a half? A personality that doesn't get you killed, plastic surgery, a face book for those dateless moments; Neil a.k.a. Raghead... a guide to the English language, modesty, tact, and control over the ole hormones; Tato/Giggles... the Great Hunter, spear-fishing in Melbourne, a fog machine; Cooter... "I can fix it," the hell raiser, a casual night of terror, and a non-explosion car; MasterBates... a night out without your wife; Corpse... 5 rounds with OPIE (if you can last that long, you little shit!), a face book to find a real date, a haircut, any chick; Doughnuts... a map to the Teke house; Shady... a Reputation, an extra foot for your mouth, a new hiding place for your Sin Book, a babe that can't outrun you, a bid from Schmig Ep; Skater... "Frater Skater, Frate Skater..." our Idol, lap dances from hell, tasty waves and a cool buzz; Woody... a sun tan, a life, and a stiff drink.

To the men of January, 1992: Keep the family and tradition high. It's one hellacious trip.

"Even though we'll be miles apart, we'll always be close in our hearts!" Nothing left to do but smile...

Tiffa: Two glasses of wine and she'll be fine. No more dancing on the ceiling! Wesley: Leave the bain de soleil and Panama Jack behind and enjoy life in the big city. Christine:...last seen driving a Volvo station wagon with 6 toe-head surfer kids hanging off the bumper. P.S.- take a valium. Carla: Our shady little Panhel Prez. Keep an eye on your clothes while late night swimming. Nina: You dissing bandit! Jumping on your bed with your "Robe" on. Cynthia: Later little man tate! The west is the best without you. Winston: Don't let "Freddie" creep into your dreams. Allison: Is it really better the 2nd, 3rd, 4th,... time around? Cara: Your door is always open. Whose the lucky man? Ricki: With Judd on her fingers and Ben on her shoes, we knew she wasn't singing the blues. Emily F.: After Floyd "Faled," the visiting stranger gave you an A. Mimi: What will Alf stir up in the garage for you next? Cecie: What were you doing when the Dead came to town? Suzanne: After trying all the other "condements," you stuck with the "Dejohn." Colby: How can you maintain your shadiness with curious George around? Sara: Now that you've decided to shop at "Walsh mart," thanks for the bold display of PDA. Jen H.: If life is a bowl of cherries, why do you keep picking the "Pitts?" Amy: She saw good ol' Saint "Nick" in his "Carter" underwear. Claudia: What's Mr. Magoo have that all the others don't? Hillary: Is your room such a "zoo" that guys have to scale the walls in rollerblades to see you? Pam: Was your major Elemntary education or sex education? Look out Dr. Ruth! Lauren: After you finally let the "Crow" fly, you learned to fly on Dana's broken wing. Lindsay: If you're going to play the field, why don't you ever bring in a home run? JenniferP.: As clean as your room is, be careful of those skeletons in your closet! Jen R.: Even though you're dabbling with "Diebel," you know the #1 reason to be an actress is the producer. Mary Cullen: Get out of the shady basement and let the sun shine in. Cathy: The first Kappa to leave Rollins with the rock of Gibraltar on her finger. Serena: After taking a wrong turn down Club "Lane," you got back on track in McKean. Kristen: Even though you came in late, we're glad you're our sister, you sure are great! Emily S.: You may strip for us, but we know you'll take a long "spin!" Sally: Mustang Sally! Ride Sally ride... you've sure made up for lost time. Marianne: Sugar-n-spice and everything nice... if they only know your shady truth. Wendy: Hey Pal! After graduation, the ball will be in your court. Vandy: After New Years Eve, you "Drew" cards and decided to shake your "boudie."

"Take advantage of everyday because graduation is not far away. We'll miss you! Love, the Seniors."

Betsy: She who sleeps all day waits for her man late night so she can play. Kathy: Mrs. Nicholson.. remember us? We wish you a lifetime of happiness and wellness. Susie: "Bada,bada, swing bada"- if you miss, don't leave in a "Furor." Anne: A busy girl who has time to "jam" in all the pleasures of life. Lizzie: You've been on the boat and in the city. We haven't seen you lately- what a pity. Jennie: We know you like hanging out, but try to be more careful. Christy: You fired your "Canon" and now you're free to be random. Clara: So we hear your favorite drink is a "Tom Collins." Christina: Is it Italy, running, or the new Club"er" that has helped you golf swing so much? Marli: Does your guy from home know you've been playing too much "Tagg?" Lala: Most likely to be living in Connecticut getting "Lahee'd." Stacey: Hangin out at the baseball field "Jonesin" for a home-run! Peggy: She's back with a smile for round 3 with Gomer Pyle. Dayna: Patiently waiting for your own version of the "lizard shirt" with Mark. Lee: We missed you while you were on the ship, but we wondered how "Lowe" you could dip. Chata: So much for those New Year's resolutions. Kate: We saw you driving your "Carr" in your "PJs." Andrea: Lovin O'shogs... it's ok to have crushes. Shannon: Get over your eventful fall, and tie one on to please them all. Aleese: After your "Rodnom" year, you're finally getting real with "Beall." Holly Highfield: Ward, Seth, Ward, Seth... Christine: It's a small world after all. Get it? Holly H.: Kappa's own Ivana Trump. Hope no one steals your man. Amanda: You grabbed the "Bull" by the horns and taken control. Sue: "Tucan" Sue- Jason who? Paige: Do you remember Black and Blue? We saw you being so untrue! Rylie: Good luck on your safari- club won't be the same without you. Kerri: Gained super "Powers" to set yourself free. Lara: Pizza or Greg latenight. Which one tonight? Mandy: On the two "Lane" highway of life, you can never have enough "Jays" or be "too loose." Cathy S.: Danced to I've got the "Power" but found a new partner for the Huki Lau. Jen W.: She likes a "Bundy" and he's not married with children. Grayson: We heard you like to cruise with James, but soon you'll be alone at sea.

Carlos Menacho-I leave to Mike Kell, one of the last seven green rubbers. Good hunting! To Mike Spitzmiller I leave the love of my life, Chucha. To Pistor and Alfredo I leave Bethany... the two of you should be able to satisfy her. Alex Dank- I leave to Jordan the "Dank Scholarship." Brown a Dish Rag, a gift certificate to Jimmersons; to K. Nalley, as much as I put in- The ability to always distrust meetings and avoid work at all costs. Try to keep a woman for more than a Month! C Day and touch of class; to the basketball players, the evolution of a newer stronger clique-pick up Klein for us; to Jason Gosnell, grades with out effort- a Big Brother Skill; to Bunting + Huey, a stock in Trojan, and the microwave for our house next year, a view of my room; Mike Hernandez- to Paul Lennix: the strength to effectively cope with things that will be far worse than anything your old roommate ever did... new shoes... what's left of the gold dust... and come see me later I have a surprise in a cup for you! Good luck on tour. To Mark Brown: medication for his turpet's syndrome... a long-lasting relationship with one of the many women he "loves"... the ability to go every night... a roomy double in the house with Lou Adesso... and all my "English" stuff... not now Doogir... Niooo! To Alex Dank I leave a neverending, scrump-tious buffet... An accountant to keep track of all the money I still owe you... Good luck in marriage and in your job search- "check the papers!" Your finally out of the hot seat! (or are you?) To Lou Adesso I leave a cure for all of your horrible afflictions... a supply of Turet's medication.. Some food for your turtle... One more big win!... And some respect-- otherwise I'll be sleeping with the fish like Luca Brazzi. To Andrew Blackmon I leave fire bush, a beautiful wedding ceremony for you and Liz(you were made for each other)... A honeymoon in Cancun... A life full of ball's out... Memories of our college years... You are and always will be the pinnacle of class! To Alex Johnston I leave the ability to focus and concentrate on one, just one unit at a time... A Miami Dolphins Superbowl victory... Deed to Lite Beer, Miller Brewing Company... And the courage to put down that book and take the skirt off and go out with the boys once in a while. To Kirk Nalley I leave a vocabulary more geared to people his age... Some humbleness... Some of my wily spanish charm... And a position in government so he can intrigue the whole world with his bullsh_t and big words. To Paul Saenz I leave my title as loneliest man in ATO. Pete Beaudette I leave the strength of a thousand bison in order to ward off the myriad of gorgeous women that stalk him night and day... I leave a request that you write a book and share with the world your winning ways to getting your way with women... Good luck Guiseppe!! To Chad Phipps I leave a law degree from Harvard so you can bail ATO out of the large lawsuit that will inevitably occur... A partnership with Big Daddy...

Some of my study habits... More perks just because you are a basketball player. To Derek Thurston I leave the ability to actually go to class once in a while... Free counseling for your jibber addiction... Wonderful buffets next year in the locker room... And of course the ability to go out drinking without committing a felony. To Steve Rotz I leave a great resume... which will lead to a promising career... Some new inventions for our business... Some peanuts for the elephant which sits upon your head every morning... A wife who had no sense of humor and is a police officer... Tons and tons of foot powder... And an attractive carrying case for your toe jam. To Jordan Snider I leave the ability to lose weight and keep it off... A new diet partner for next year... Patience to deal with Brown next year... An invitation to join me in a year, in my futile search for employment... A jibber night with me... An individual National Championship... And a long lasting friendship with Michael Judd. THE END!

The senior sisters of XLR8 bid farewell to all the silver and the gold. It has been a long, strange trip for us, yet yours is just beginning. Remember to keep a smile as bright as our star at night. The journey is long, but the adventure continues!

We leave you with a few words of wisdom:

-- Never lose your sense of humor...

It kept us going for four years.

-- Never lose your cool...

It gets pretty steamy if you do.

-- Never lose your hope...

Good foundations are hard to find.

-- Never lose your love...

An 8, when laid on its side, stands for eternity.

With these words in mind and our spirit in heart, all we can say is----

I missed out on a lot of things at Rollins, but I won't shed a tear, my social life was baseball, 10 months a year. So what did I really miss? Not much at all. Getting drunk. Getting tan. Like I said, not much at all. Most seniors graduate in a job market that's lame, but with my baseball diploma, I'll be playing a game. Poetry about us though, I'll give it a shot, Arcos Protos I am, but a poet, I'm not.

Firstly there's my boy Johnny B. At his 4years at Rollins, he couldn't ever get it for free. Big Al is next, whose choice of women was awful, thus, the lifetime hogster is all we can offer. Thanks so much to Rich for your great GPA and your Monday donations to T.W.A. On the football field Little Al was as fast as you could be, but on Thursday nights he was a 4th fighter groupie. Happy Kandyman was a friend to all, but he loved his J.D. and Jim Bean most of all.

Here's stressed out Fruity who bet on the frog, he went for a cow and in the end, got dogged.

There was a brother named Fats, whose girlfriend was Pam, after 3 months of dating things began to fall off the poor man.

Now to Brian and Matt, or is it Matt and Brian, Some still can't tell the difference so stop your damn cryin'!!!

Then there's Sassy Seed, the Chi Psi pack rat, female qualifications are that you're big, red, and fat.

We saw our boy Wolfie have a great year, but the only problem is you were never over here.

I give the lifetime sponge award to Sweet Lou, make it easy on yourself and transfer to F.S.U..

To Jorge, you speak Spanish well, and your English is fair, but when it comes to your music, we really don't care.

With the new coach, Crabby wasn't a big hit, but he really doesn't care, and that's the way he likes it.

Pipes is still an idiot. No rhyhme, no poem, that's it.

To Pixie, we didn't know you were into ballerinas, but cowboy hats and handcuffs; hey, we gotta hand it to ya'.

To my roomie Mike, you had a great year at the plate, but when it comes to Jenn, where's the big date?

Melin came and Lindsey left.

To Riva, in life do whatever you can to make sure that no one cuts off either one of your hands.

I believe that Shady is as neutral as you could be, but I'm glad I was on your side when you were the judge on I.F.C.

My advice to Will before you get too old, do the right thing and settle down with Nicole.

Flippo is cool, he hooks us with cash every year, but he boned his little bro, with his feminine hell week gear.

Life just wouldn't be the same without Pyne, and nothing escapes his keen camera eye.

Goluf is a drunk, and his limit is light, and you're a great male friend to Pappas and White.

Judd has calmed down and we're happy for that, He didn't beat up anyone this year in our entire frat.

And then there was Higgins, a little male whore, the only meaning in his life was Star Trek at 4.

Congrats to Fuzzy, yuked 42 times in one week, even your girls in Fox Hall would consider it a feat.

Little Man Toph, our own drunken stumbler, where does the alcohol go, we all seem to wonder.

In the triple there's Scales, who never wears a frown, but do us a favor, and turn your*#@#* stereo down!

There's poor old Steg, who's bullpen hours can't be matched, so many thanks from Mike and I, and now we hope you can catch.

Poor Joe Caputo got screwed sat the field, so his body took in as much alcohol as it could yield.

Then there was Plante whose hygiene was schmeek, got Heismaned 30 times by a girl named Anik.

Hey Frost, how many lick does it take to get to the popsicle stick?

Johnson had enough money to buy Miami but he pissed it away so fast,

Now there's Josh, who still wants to quack like a duck;

And to Orlando, what do you call Ike with no tail... stuck!!

Upstairs to Pete, the Mass legacy continues, but when it came to, whatever got into You?

"The Summit"

On November 8, 1991, an All-College Planning Summit was held. President Rita Bornstein stated that the purpose of this gathering was to set goals for the future of the College. As the Summit approached, students' reactions varied. Some remembered the Student Life Summit of the 1988-89 academic year and hoped for similar opportunities for involvement. Meanwhile, others planned to use the Friday without classes as the start to a long weekend.

Following the opening remarks on Mills Lawn, participants chose from one of five morning sessions, all held in the Bush building. This choice of location was another source of student complaints. The afternoon also offered a choice of five sessions; the most popular among students, not surprisingly, was the Student Life session.

As the afternoon sessions drew to a close, all participants were summoned to Bush Auditorium. There, the moderators and recorders for each session briefly summarized the topics and priorities highlighted during the day. Finally, everyone gathered outside for ice cream.

While many valuable suggestions were offered, there was a general concern about the feasibility of many of the ideas. S.G.A. responded with its own S.T.A.R.T.A.T. Rally, held Thursday, November 21, on Mills Lawn.

Philip R. Kelly, Class of 1942

As a Rollins student, Kelly was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity, a writer for the Sandspur, and a member of the infamous OOOO society. Some of Kelly's unforgettable Rollins memories include quarterbacking the Lambda Chis to two unbeaten seasons, hearing the radio news of the bombing of Pearl Harbor, and campus sings along the lakefront in the spring. He also fondly remembers the scent of orange blossoms and girls dressed in lovely white. In recent visits to Rollins, Kelly has noticed the tremendous growth of the physical plant and the subsequent shrinkage of the Horseshoe and Lakefront. He has also noticed that today's students "don't look much different than we did, except for hair-styles."

ROLLINS EXPERIENCE

L. Mosley

Dan Golub and Jake Ward take in a view of the lush Australian countryside.

Until 1971, all students had weekday and weekend curfews. Women's curfews were always earlier than men's.

dedicated to the housekeeping staff of Rollins College

Every day we notice how beautiful the campus is, both on the inside and on the outside. In fact, we have even come to expect this beauty and to sometimes take it for granted. We remark to each other about the exterior beauty -- Lake Virginia, the green grass, and the silhouette of the chapel tower as early evening approaches. When we notice the cleanliness of the interiors of the buildings, however, we usually fail to verbalize our appreciation.

We repeatedly pass by members of the Housekeeping Staff. Sometimes, we smile or nod, but it is rare that we will tell these people how integral they are to making the entire Rollins experience unforgettable.

For this reason, we are dedicating the 1992 Tomokan to the Rollins Housekeeping staff. We appreciate their continued efforts to keep our offices and residence halls in great condition; without these efforts, the Rollins experience would still be memorable, but it would not be nearly as unforgettable.

We wish to give special thanks to a few people without whom this book could not have been produced. Sally and Suzy in the Alumni House helped us contact alumni. Trudy in Archives helped us find old photographs for the divider pages, while Jack Lane and Kate in Archives provided us with facts about the history of our college. The Media Contacts of each campus group were also important resources. Finally, a million thanks to Paul Viau; without Paul this book would never have made it as far as the computer. Thanks...you're unforgettable.

Tau Kappa Epsilon

In 1959, Tau Kappa Epsilon chartered Zeta Phi chapter at Rollins College. For almost thirty years, TKE has been an active element on campus. With the average member size of approximately thirty five men, the fraters of Zeta Phi established themselves with the traditions and ideals inherent of any local chapter. In the early 80's, the chapter strayed from its positive path. The painful memory of "Nagasaki Sunday" foreboded the end to the once strong and vibrant fraternity. By May of 1987, the flame of Zeta Phi died.

Two years later, in the Spring of 1989, a group of sixteen men sparked a new flame to revive the old TKE chapter. Through the dedication and hard work of these sixteen individuals, the group attained recognition as a colony of Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity on January 18, 1990. Under a new program of membership recruitment, the colony began its crusade to build itself into a strong fraternity.

Although it was not easy, the colony gradually gained acceptance among the other Greek organizations. It functioned to promote higher ideals among members, and to commit each individual to excellence. In January of 1991, Zeta Phi won its first major victory over all the other Greek organizations. Claiming the first place title in the very FIRST WinterFest competition renewed the colony's hunger for greatness. That Spring, TKE renewed its sense of unity and teamwork by taking second in Greek Week.

The colony continued to flourish the following year and petitioned for charter in January of 1992. Five months later, on May 2, 1992, Tau Kappa Epsilon was reinstated as a chartered fraternity at Rollins College. This monumental moment marks the end of a struggle to gain the respect and acceptance of the Rollins Community...But most importantly, it marks the birth of one of the strongest chapters this school has ever seen.

We would like to recognize our fellow fraters who graduated before they could see the dream become a reality--

We believe that the essential elements of true brotherhood are love, charity, and esteem;

Love, that binds our hearts

...with the sturdy chords of fraternal affection.

Charity, that is impulsive to see virtues in a brother

but slow to reprove his faults

Esteem, that is respectful to the honest convictions of others ...

and that refrains from treading upon that which is sacred to spirit and conscience.

These are the triple obligations of every brother in the bond.

Nothing ever built arose to touch the skies unless some man dreamed that it should, some man believed that it could, and some man willed that it must.
